

Chiasma was supposed to present data at The Endocrine Society (ENDO) and the American Association of Endocrinologist (AACE) conferences in 2020 but both conferences were cancelled. Where can I find that data?

Chiasma was scheduled to present seven abstracts on the CHIASMA OPTIMAL data at The Endocrine Society's 2020 conference which was originally scheduled to be held in March. This meeting was replaced with a virtual meeting that was held June 8 to 22. These seven abstracts are now published in the Journal of the Endocrine Society. In addition, with The Endocrine Society's permission, our six posters and an oral presentation based on those abstracts, that would have been shown at the live meeting, are now posted on our website <https://chiasma.com/publications/>. There is also a presentation available on our website, from the AACE Annual Meeting, which shows that glycemic control in patients receiving octreotide capsules treatment is consistent with the class effect observed in first generation injectable SRLs.
